

If you give a

Writing Unit

Brainstorm what animal you will write about and words that start with the same letter as your animal.

Now that you have an animal, and a starting word, brainstorm several steps of how it might happen, and what is the final thing that reminds your animal of the starting place.

Finally think of some ways to describe your steps. Does your animal suddenly think of it, or are they reminded of something? Write down some words that get you thinking of ways to move from step to step.
